

COMPANY NAME

EMPLOYEE POLICIES & HANDBOOK

A practical guide to workplace rules, benefits, responsibilities, and employee conduct

Document Type	Employee Policy Handbook
Version	1.0
Effective Date	21 August 2026
Review Cycle	Annual
Applies To	All employees, unless otherwise stated

This handbook is a general template and should be reviewed and adapted to the company’s employment agreements and applicable local laws.

Table of Contents

1. Working Days & Working Hours
2. Attendance & Punctuality
3. Leave & Holiday Policy
4. Work From Home / Remote Work
5. Probation & Confirmation
6. Compensation & Payroll
7. Overtime & Additional Work
8. Code of Conduct
9. Dress & Workplace Etiquette
10. Confidentiality & Data Protection
11. Company Property & IT Usage
12. Performance & Career Development
13. Health, Safety & Workplace Respect
14. Resignation & Notice Period
15. Disciplinary Action
16. Policy Changes & Acknowledgement

1. Working Days & Working Hours

Employees normally work Monday to Friday, with Saturday and Sunday as weekly rest days.

Standard working hours are 9:00 AM to 6:00 PM, including a one-hour meal break. Business teams may have different schedules based on operational requirements.

Employees are expected to be available during their assigned working hours and to communicate planned schedule changes to their manager.

2. Attendance & Punctuality

Employees should report to work on time and maintain regular attendance.

Repeated late arrival, unexplained absence, or early departure may be reviewed by the reporting manager and HR.

If an employee cannot attend work, they should notify their manager as early as possible and follow the leave/absence procedure.

Attendance records may be maintained through an attendance system, timesheet, or other company-approved method.

3. Leave & Holiday Policy

Casual Leave: 12 days per calendar year for personal needs or short-term absence.

Sick Leave: 12 days per calendar year for illness or recovery. Supporting documentation may be requested where appropriate.

Earned/Annual Leave: 15 days per calendar year, subject to company approval and applicable rules.

Public Holidays: Employees receive holidays published in the company's annual holiday calendar.

Leave should normally be requested in advance through the company's approved process. Emergency or sick leave should be communicated as soon as reasonably possible.

Leave balances, carry-forward, and encashment are subject to company rules and applicable law.

4. Work From Home / Remote Work

Remote work may be permitted when the role, business requirements, and manager approval allow it.

Employees working remotely must maintain normal working hours, attend required meetings, protect company information, and remain reachable through approved communication channels.

Company equipment and confidential information must be handled securely outside the office.

5. Probation & Confirmation

New employees may have a standard probation period of 6 months, unless their employment agreement states otherwise.

During probation, performance, attendance, conduct, role suitability, and adherence to company policies may be reviewed.

Successful completion of probation may result in confirmation of employment. The company may extend probation where appropriate and legally permitted.

6. Compensation & Payroll

Salary is normally processed monthly through the company's designated payroll method.

Employees should promptly report payroll discrepancies to HR or the payroll team.

Any applicable deductions, taxes, statutory contributions, or benefits will be handled according to the employee's employment terms and applicable law.

Salary information should be treated as confidential unless disclosure is required by law or company policy.

7. Overtime & Additional Work

Employees should obtain manager approval before working overtime where approval is required.

Overtime compensation, time off in lieu, or other arrangements will follow the employee's contract and applicable law.

Employees should not routinely work excessive hours without discussing workload concerns with their manager.

8. Code of Conduct

Employees are expected to act professionally, honestly, respectfully, and responsibly.

Harassment, discrimination, bullying, threats, violence, retaliation, fraud, theft, and deliberate misuse of company resources are prohibited.

Conflicts of interest should be disclosed to management or HR.

Employees must comply with applicable laws, company procedures, and reasonable management instructions.

9. Dress & Workplace Etiquette

Employees should maintain a neat, clean, and professional appearance appropriate to their role and workplace.

Employees should communicate respectfully and avoid disruptive behavior.

Meetings, shared spaces, and company facilities should be used responsibly and considerately.

10. Confidentiality & Data Protection

Employees may have access to confidential business, customer, employee, financial, technical, or strategic information.

Confidential information must only be accessed, used, stored, or shared for legitimate business purposes.

Employees must follow company security procedures, use strong authentication practices, and report suspected data loss or security incidents promptly.

Confidentiality obligations may continue after employment ends where required by agreement or law.

11. Company Property & IT Usage

Company laptops, phones, accounts, software, documents, and other assets are provided primarily for authorized business use.

Employees must protect company devices and credentials from unauthorized access.

Installing unauthorized software, sharing passwords, bypassing security controls, or using company systems for unlawful activity is prohibited.

Company property must be returned when requested or when employment ends.

12. Performance & Career Development

Employees may receive periodic performance feedback and formal reviews.

Performance discussions may cover goals, quality of work, teamwork, attendance, skills, and development needs.

Employees are encouraged to participate in training and continuously improve role-related knowledge and skills.

13. Health, Safety & Workplace Respect

Employees should follow workplace health and safety procedures and report hazards promptly.

Emergency instructions and evacuation procedures must be followed.

The company aims to provide a respectful workplace where concerns can be raised without fear of retaliation.

Employees should report serious workplace concerns to their manager, HR, or another designated company contact.

14. Resignation & Notice Period

Employees who resign should submit written notice in accordance with their employment agreement.

A standard notice period may be 30 days, unless the contract or applicable law specifies otherwise.

During the notice period, employees are expected to complete assigned work, support knowledge transfer, and return company property.

Final settlement and employment documents will be processed according to company procedures and applicable requirements.

15. Disciplinary Action

Policy violations may result in corrective or disciplinary action depending on the nature and seriousness of the issue.

Possible actions may include counseling, written warning, performance improvement measures, suspension where lawful, or termination where justified.

The company will aim to apply disciplinary procedures fairly and consistently, subject to applicable law and employment terms.

16. Policy Changes & Acknowledgement

The company may update these policies from time to time to reflect business needs, operational changes, or legal requirements.

Employees will be informed of significant policy changes through appropriate company communication channels.

Employees are expected to read, understand, and comply with the latest approved version of this handbook.

This handbook provides general workplace guidance and does not replace an employee's individual employment agreement or applicable law.

Employee Acknowledgement

I acknowledge that I have received and reviewed the Company Employee Policies & Handbook. I understand that I am responsible for following the policies applicable to my role and for seeking clarification from HR or management when needed.

Employee Name	_____
Employee ID	_____
Signature	_____
Date	_____